Supreme Maintenance Organization Announces New Vice President of Landscape Services

Greensboro, North Carolina, USA, May 28, 2014 – Supreme Maintenance Organization (SMO), a leading janitorial and landscape service provider in the Southeast based in Greensboro, North Carolina, announced that Greg McGhee has joined the company as Vice President of Landscape Services.

Greg brings over twenty-two years of experience in the janitorial and landscape maintenance industries. This latest addition to the SMO executive team positions the company to continue its growth and expand its service offerings. As Vice President of Landscape Services, Greg will provide sales and operational leadership to the SMO Landscape Services Division. Greg will also offer his vast experiences to assist in the sales efforts in the Janitorial Services Division.

Greg first started in the janitorial service industry when he joined his friend to help him start his new janitorial company, Professional Facilities Management, Inc., in Montgomery Alabama in 1992. Greg served in many capacities during his twenty years with PFMI and was instrumental in helping them grow into a regional facility service provider. He eventually became Vice President where he was responsible for a portfolio of over 20 million in janitorial and landscape services. In 2012, Greg joined Vision Landscapes in Birmingham, Alabama as their Vice President of Business Development.

“Greg will be a tremendous addition to the SMO executive team. His extensive experience in janitorial and landscape sales and service will help strengthen SMO as an industry leader. Greg will lead our efforts as we expand our service offerings to our customers with SMO’s Landscape Services Division,” said David Murphy, SMO’s President.

When asked about his new position, Greg said, “I am extremely excited about the opportunity to become part of such a great organization as SMO. It was an easy decision to join the SMO team because I have known David and Gary since 1993 and I know how much they value their customers and employees. I look forward to serving with the entire SMO team.”
